

How to get involved

The British Baseball Hall of Fame (BBHoF) would be very interested to hear from any individuals wishing to take on a role. If you would like to put yourself forward or nominate someone else for consideration as an elector or a regional expert, please send an email to the address at the top of the BBHoF website (<http://www.bbhof.org.uk>). Nominations for electors should include a biography describing: firstly, the individual's contribution to chronicling the history of baseball in Britain; and, secondly, any other involvement that the individual has had in British baseball. Nominations for regional experts should describe in which seasons and in what areas of Britain the individual has been involved in baseball, along with the nature of that involvement.
